Celebrate Earth Day with The Greenwich Land Trust

Greenwich CT — The Greenwich Land Trust, a nonprofit organization dedicated to preserving land in its natural state, will host a series of events that celebrate Earth Day. The community is invited to participate in a shopping day, beautification project, native plant garden seminar, and stargazing event.

Programs and Events

Whole Foods Shopping Day
Wednesday, April 2; All Day

Shop at Whole Foods Market on April 2 in support of the Greenwich Land Trust. 5% of the proceeds from the day will be donated to the GLT.

Whole Foods Market- Greenwich
90 E Putnam Ave, Greenwich, CT 06830

Native Plant Garden Seminar
Monday, April 7; 7pm-9pm

Join The Greenwich Land Trust at the Greenwich Library Meeting Room on April 7 for an informative discussion on native plants. The New York Botanical Garden's Brian Sullivan will discuss the newly opened Native Plant Garden which showcases plant species native to the region in an innovative New American style, transporting visitors through a variety of local microclimates. The story of the garden's design and installation will inspire home gardeners and introduce a palette

Earth Day Shopping

Tuesday, April 22; All day

Local shops will donate a portion of their proceeds to the Greenwich Land Trust on April 22. Several shops are sponsoring special Earth Day events at their locations. Please check www.gltrust.org for a complete listing and description.

Earth Day Beautification

Saturday, April 26; 10am-1pm

Volunteer to help the Earth by removing invasive plants, planting native perennials and trees, and building raised garden beds at the Greenwich Land Trust's Mueller Preserve (370 Round Hill Rd, Greenwich). Activities for all ages, but children under 13 must be accompanied by an adult. Lunch will be provided courtesy of Whole Foods Market Greenwich. Visit www.gltrust.org for more details. Rain date: Sunday April 27.

Star Gazing in the Meadow

Sunday, May 4; 8:30pm-9:30pm

Join the Greenwich Land Trust and the Greenwich Astronomical Society for an evening of viewing stars in an open meadow and through the lens of powerful telescopes. Besides star gazing, there will be marshmallow roasting for s'mores. Perfect for the whole family! Visit www.gltrust.org for more details.
